New NHS CPP Clinical Consumables Framework Launched

A new framework agreement to cover Clinical Consumables has been launched by the NHS Collaborative Procurement Partnership. (NHS CPP)

The need for a new contract to cover Clinical Consumable Products was identified by the NHS CPP of being of benefit to members and the framework has been established to enable Trusts to award contracts for a wide range of products from leading suppliers in the market.

NHS CPP (which includes the East of England NHS Collaborative Procurement Hub, London Procurement Partnership, North of England Commercial Procurement Collaborative and NHS Commercial Solutions) has a common purpose in striving to secure value for money and offer comprehensive support for members.

Under this framework, NHS organisations have the option to award to any supplier to achieve direct delivery. Service options such as bulk delivery are also available by conducting a price benchmarking exercise or further competition.

To award a contract under this framework, the contracting authority may select any supplier available in the Lot on the framework to achieve value for money and a compliant route to market. The Hub is able to support members in getting the most out of using this contract.

Lots Include: Lot 1: Procedure Pack; Lot 2: Single Use Instruments; Lot 3: Single Use Drapes; Lot 4: Single Use Gowns; Lot 5: Theatre Hats and Masks; Lot 6: Surgeons Gloves; Lot 7: Examination Gloves; Lot 8: Patient Temperature Management.

The contract is live and runs until February 2019, with 2 x 12 month extension periods available. For further information, please contact nawaz.habib@eocph.nhs.uk

The Hub will be the first region to tender under this national documentation, leading on behalf of the NHS Commercial Alliance.

This is something we have been working towards for a number of years and it will enable us to tighten our contract management process for this core pharmacy service.

Our long-term objective is to provide Trusts with a quarterly KPI report aligned to our homecare service offering as we have seen the benefits this can bring.

For more information, please contact stephanie.rose@eocph.nhs.uk

Human Albumin and Anti-D Framework

We are currently adjudicating this national framework with the Commercial Medicines Unit (CMU). Trusts will be aware that there are global supply issues within these markets and we are working closely with the CMU to allocate volumes accordingly.

The Hub will be liaising with each Trust following award to discuss the outcomes. For more information, please contact stephanie.rose@eocph.nhs.uk

Pharmacy Automated Systems Stakeholder Event 4TH April 2017 – Book Now!

NHS Trusts are seeking to improve and optimise medicine management processes to reduce the cost of administering medicines in hospitals and simultaneously reduce error rates and increase the time available to nursing staff (and others) for patient care.

This can be achieved through a mix of automation, robotics, software, re-engineered logistics and medicine flows, together with computer-assisted and automated medicine dispensing.

The Hub is hosting a Pharmacy Automation Stakeholder event for NHS personnel to help them understand the pharmacy automation solutions currently available on the market and share best practice.

We will be using this conference to present our automation procurement strategy.

Clinical Product Specialists (CPS) Update

Product Standardisation

The CPS team continues to work with NHS Supply Chain (NHS SC) and Trusts around the standardisation of clinical consumables, with support being offered in relation to the compare and save documents.

Nitrile Exam Gloves Costs

The wholesale increase in the cost of Nitrile Exam Gloves via NHS SC has had a significant impact on Trusts' expenditure.

The CPS team is working with Trusts to review this area of spend. Whilst awaiting the results of the mini competition being run by NHS SC, comparable pricing is also being examined on the new NHS CPP theatre consumables framework against direct supply.

Ambulance/Acute Hospitals Standardisation

The work plan around this project, which is looking at ways of standardising certain consumables to avoid waste, continues to develop with extra consumables being added for consideration.

This piece of work is initially being piloted in Cambridge University Hospitals and Princess Alexandra Hospital, but if efficiencies can be achieved, these initiatives can be rolled out to all Trusts.

“Tax doesn’t need to be taxing.....” said an advert from HMRC extolling the benefits of online tax returns. However, we are not sure that you could apply the same soundbite to managing Value Added Tax (VAT).

The rules of VAT can be fairly complex in nature, as there are different considerations to be made when reviewing what it applies to, and then when it applies. Tie this into the NHS environment, and the myriad of day to day elements provided as a service, coupled with business development needs, strategic aims, and business planning, and it can soon become a major challenge.

Applying VAT, and the rules of VAT, is not always straight forward, especially when there is the legal obligation for an NHS organisation to pay the correct amount due, ensuring it is fully compliant with its VAT obligations. Equally, and just as important is to ensure that the NHS organisation is not overpaying, and that it takes full advantage of any zero rated elements which can be applied to its day to day business activities or strategic developments.

Putting to one side the depth of specialist knowledge and understanding needed to correctly apply VAT rules, the proportion of time needed out of a working day, to comprehensively review all financial activity and judiciously apply the rules, usually means VAT can be something of a “Cinderella” in respect of daily activities.

In December 2016, Aruni Mukherjee, from KPMG, delivered specific training to Hub members, as part of our free to access programme of events on the subject matter of “VAT Issues in the Pharmacy Sector” - an often overlooked area of the NHS that has bespoke needs.

Aruni’s Mukherjee’s presentation was very well received by a packed audience of pharmacy members and sparked significant dialogue.

The basic ground rules of VAT are:

- VAT is a tax that is charged on most goods and services;
- It is a consumption tax, with the final VAT amount being borne by the end consumer; and
- UK legislation is governed by the VAT Act 1994.

Specifically relevant for Pharmacy provision, are the additional elements governed by the Principal VAT Directive (PVD) 2006/112/EC, which all member states are bound by. However, member states interpret the Directive's provisions slightly differently and this is where it gets challenging.

The UK's derogation allows for certain goods (e.g. drugs in some cases) to be zero-rated even where not explicitly allowed by the PVD. If you haven't already considered the implications of Pharmacy and VAT, and would like to learn more, the complete presentation kindly provided by KPMG in the Pharmacy training event can be accessed by clicking here.

Award News

Ambulance Uniform Project Shortlisted for HSJ Value and GO Awards

A major national project which has created the first ever standardised uniform for use by UK Ambulance Trusts and is set to save the NHS around £3.4 million has been shortlisted for an HSJ Value in Healthcare Award 2017/18 and a Government Opportunities (GO) Award.

It is a finalist in the Improving Value Through Innovative Financial Management or Procurement Category in the HSJ award and the Procurement Innovation or Initiative of the Year Category in the GO Awards.

The procurement project, which was delivered by the NHS Commercial Alliance and the National Ambulance Procurement Group, will save Ambulance Trusts the cost of more than an entire year's expenditure on uniform items (equivalent to around 165,000 garments per annum) over just four years - the equivalent of funding approximately 100 paramedics.

National Ambulance Procurement Delivery Manager at the NHS Commercial Alliance, James Richards, who managed the project said: "We are absolutely delighted to be shortlisted for these awards, which are a testament to the hard work put in by all the Ambulance Trusts to deliver the framework, which will lead to multi-million pound savings and operating efficiencies." For more information about the project, click here.

The winners of the GO Awards will be announced in March and the HSJ Value in Healthcare Awards will be announced in May 2017.

E-Catalogue and e-Requisitioning Solution shortlisted for two GO Awards

The Hub is pleased to be shortlisted in two separate categories in the National Government Opportunities (GO) Excellence in Public Procurement Awards 2017/18 as part of the NHS Collaborative Procurement Partnership, for the recently launched e-Catalogue and e-Requisitioning Solution framework.

A finalist for both the GO Collaboration Award and the GO Procurement Innovation / Initiative of the Year Award, the e-Catalogue and e-Requisitioning Solution provides all NHS organisations with an opportunity to purchase a best-in-class system which has been designed by the NHS, for the NHS, with the specific needs of clustered organisations, STPs and collaborative procurement hubs in mind.

Darren McVee, E-enablement manager for the East of England Hub, said: "Undertaking such a major e-cataloguing project was extremely challenging, but its success shows what can be achieved through collaboration and positive engagement. We are very pleased that this project nationally has been recognised in a hotly contested and respected award scheme."

Non-Medical, Non-Clinical Staffing Project Shortlisted For GO Collaboration Award

The Hub was named alongside several Trusts in the region for its part in the excellent collaborative work around Non-Medical, Non-Clinical staffing, in an award submission entered by Norfolk and Suffolk Community Health which has also been shortlisted in the GO Awards.
